

Duty of Confidentiality and Individuals Who Can Receive Confidential Information

Thank you for being a client of the Law Office of Mo Abusaft. As your attorney, I owe you a duty of confidentiality. My duty of confidentiality requires that any confidential information that you share with me cannot be used against you in a court of law nor can it be shared without your permission. This duty also extends to any individual who you encounter through my law office. It is vitally important that you always be truthful and completely open with me during your representation. Failure to do so will result in damage to your case and can result in the Law Office of Mo Abusaft ending its representation of you.

Because of our duty of confidentiality, it is essential that we know who we can share information with regarding your case. These are the only individuals who we will share information with. If you want to add or remove any name from this list, then you must provide that information in writing to our law office at 229 Magnolia Street, Spartanburg, SC 29306. Below are the names of the individuals who you have given us permission to share your confidential information with:

- 1.
